New Wortley Community Association is starting an exciting new project to build new houses in New Wortley.

We want to hear your views

In early October
we will be door
knocking in your area

The houses will be built and owned by the Association and rented out as affordable homes. The initial phase will be to build a small number of homes that will enhance and improve the area around the Holdforths and Clydes. Building work is still at least a year away, but we will be consulting local residents on their views immediately.

Your views will help shape the future of this project. We want to know what kind of housing you think should be prioritised and how you think the area could be improved by this development, including any ideas you have about improving safety on the estate.

A team of architecture and landscape architecture students from Leeds Beckett University, (led by Tony Herrmann from COGS) will be visiting residents in the Holdforths, Clydes, Hedleys and Bruces areas over the next month. Everything you say will be kept strictly confidential. If you are not in when we call, we will leave contact details to arrange a time to suit you.

There will also be some meetings open to everyone in New Wortley to give their views. They will be advertised in the New Wortley Community Centre, through Castleton Primary school, online and via our social media:
